LONDON.

His MAJESTY's most gracious SPEECH to both HOUSES of Parliament, on Thurſday the Fourteenth Day of November, 1751.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

IT is with great Satisfaction that I meet you in Parliament, at this Time, when the Continuance of the Public Tranquillity, and the flouriſhing Condition of My Kingdoms, leave Us nothing to deſire, but to ſecure and improve Our preſent Situation. To this End all My Views and Meaſures have been directed both at Home and Abroad; and, in this State of Things, nothing can give Me more real Pleaſure, than to obſerve thoſe ſolid Advantages which My good Subjects reap from it, in their Trade and Manufactures; ſome Branches whereof have alſo received conſiderable Benefit, from the wiſe Proviſions which have been made by this Parliament.

The Treaty lately entered into with the Elector of Bavaria, was laid before you in your laſt Seſſions; and I then acquainted you, that I was taking ſuch further meaſures, as might tend to ſecure the Tranquillity of the Empire; ſupport its Syſtem; and timely prevent ſuch Events, as had been found by Experience to endanger the Common Cauſe. I have ſince, for the ſame Purpoſes, in Conjunction with the States General of the United Provinces, found it neceſſary to conclude a Treaty with the King of Poland, Elector of Saxony, which ſhall be communicated to you.

The unfortunate Event of the Prince of Orange's Death, has made no Alteration in the State of Affairs in Holland; and by the prudent and early Meaſures taken there, the Quiet of that Country has been preſerved, and their Government carried on upon the Foundation of the Settlement, which had, with ſo much Foreſight, been previouſly eſtabliſhed by Laws of the Republic. I have received the ſtrongeſt Aſſurances from the States General, of their firm Reſolution to maintain that ſtrict Union and Friendſhip, which ſo happily ſubſiſt between Me, and thoſe ancient and natural Allies of My Crown.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Commons,

I have ordered Eſtimates of the Expences of the enſuing Year to be prepared and laid before you, and have no other Supplies to aſk of you, but ſuch as are requiſite for thoſe Services, and for making good ſuch neceſſary Engagements, as you are made acquainted with. The Succeſs which has attended your Firmneſs in reducing the Intereſt of the National Debt, will, I am confident, give you the greateſt Satisfaction.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

The Experience I have had of your dutiful and ſteady Conduct, makes it wholly unneceſſary for Me to preſs upon you Unanimity and Diſpatch in your Deliberations. But I cannot conclude, without recommending to you, in the moſt earneſt manner, to conſider ſeriouſly of ſome effectual Proviſions to ſuppreſs thoſe audacious Crimes of Robbery and Violence, which are now become ſo frequent, eſpecially about this great Capital; and which have proceeded, in a great Meaſure, from that profligate Spirit of Irreligion, Idleneſs, Gaming, and Extravagance, which has of late extended itſelf, in an uncommon Degree, to the Diſhonour of the Nation, and to the great Offence and Prejudice of the ſober and induſtrious Part of My People.

The Humble ADDRESS of the Right Honourable the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament aſſembled.

Die Jovis, 14° Novembris, 1751.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE, Your Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament aſſembled, approach Your Throne with Hearts full of that Zeal and Affection for Your Perſon and Government, which become the moſt faithful Subjects to the beſt of Kings.

We beg Leave, in the firſt Place, to return Your Majeſty our humble Thanks for Your moſt gracious Speech from the Throne; in which You have, with ſo much Goodneſs, expreſſed Your Care of our Welfare, and Your Delight in our Happineſs. Juſtice, as well as Gratitude, calls upon us to acknowledge the ineſtimable Bleſſings we enjoy under Your Majeſty's auſpicious Government; and that the Continuance of the public Tranquility, the proſperous Situation of Your Kingdoms, the flouriſhing Condition of our Commerce, and the Opportunity which theſe Circumſtances have afforded, for reducing the Burden of the National Intereſt, are, under the Divine Protection, owing to the wiſe Meaſures which Your Majeſty has purſued, both at Home and Abroad, for the true Intereſts of Your People.

We are fully ſenſible, that thoſe Meaſures have not been reſtrained merely to preſent Objects, but have been prudently extended to guard againſt future Evils and Dangers. In this Light we conſider the Treaty lately concluded by Your Majeſty with the King of Poland, Elector of Saxony; the good Effects of which will, we hope, be fully anſwerable to Your great and ſalutary Views.

The Death of the Prince of Orange, a Prince ſo nearly allied to Your Majeſty, and of ſuch Importance to the Common Cauſe, has given us great Concern. But it is a real Satisfaction to us, that this unfortunate Event has been attended with no ill Conſequence to the State of Affairs in Holland; whoſe Security and Welfare we conſider as intimately connected with our own. The Support of that Government, upon the Settlement which had been before happily eſtabliſhed, and the cordial Aſſurances which Your Majeſty has received from the States General, give us the greateſt Pleaſure; and confirm us in that Reſolution, which we have long adhered to, of maintaining and cultivating the ſtricteſt Union and Friendſhip with that Proteſtant Republic.

We acknowledge, with all Thankfulneſs, the Paternal Regard which Your Majeſty has ſhewn for Your People, in publickly declaring Your juſt Reſentment againſt thoſe audacious Crimes of Robbery and Violence, which, in Defiance of the Laws, are now grown to ſuch an Exceſs, particularly in this Part of the Kingdom. We look upon them as a real Nuiſance and Diſhonour to the Nation; and the Increaſe of Irreligion, Idleneſs, Gaming, and all kinds of Licentiouſneſs, has been long lamented by all good Men, as the unhappy Source of this and many other Miſchiefs. All Conſiderations, both religious and political, call upon us to put a Stop to theſe growing Evils; and nothing ſhall be wanting on our Part, to enforce and ſtrengthen the Laws for puniſhing and ſuppreſſing all ſuch wicked Practices, and to prevent and remedy the pernicious Cauſes of them. Permit us, at
